Open Access and Copyright

Articles published by ChemistryOpen are published under the terms of a Creative Commons license as stated in the final article. Authors are offered a choice between two licenses: Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial License (CC-BY-NC) and Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivs License (CC-BY-NC-ND). Where a funder or institutional mandate requires it, the Creative Commons Attribution License (CC-BY) license may be selected.

Copyright on articles published under a Creative Commons license in a Wiley Open Access journal is retained by the author(s). Authors grant Wiley-VCH a license to publish the article and identify itself as the original publisher. Authors also grant any third party the right to use the article freely within the terms of the specified license as long as its integrity is maintained and its original authors, citation details and publisher are identified.

The Wiley-VCH Open Access Agreement formalizes these and other terms and conditions of publishing articles. Full details can be found at www.wileyopenaccess.com.

How to cite: To make sure that references to this journal are correctly recorded and resolved (for example in CrossRef or ISI Web of Science), please use the full journal title in any citations: "ChemistryOpen" (one word, no spaces or punctuation).

Article Publication Charges

All articles published by ChemistryOpen are fully open access: immediately freely available to read, download and share. To cover the cost of publishing, ChemistryOpen charges a publication fee.

ChemistryOpen's publication charge for authors of a Review, Full Paper or Communication accepted for publication in the journal is € 2500. Authors wishing to publish a Thesis Summary in the ChemistryOpen Thesis Treasury will be charged € 500.

Authors who provide proofs of membership (i.e., membership number) to a ChemPubSoc Europe society receive a 20% discount on the associated publication charge. Further discounts are available through funding agencies and institutions. For further details of the Article Publication Charges and discounts available, please visit the journal homepage: www.chemistryopen.org/charges.

Use by commercial "for-profit" organizations

With the exception of articles published under the CC-BY license, use of ChemistryOpen articles for commercial, promotional, or marketing purposes requires further explicit permission from Wiley-VCH and will be subject to a fee.
