Aims and Scope

The roles of lipids, fats, and oils in health, physiology, nutrition, and technology are increasingly appreciated. The European Journal of Lipid Science and Technology covers all areas of lipid-related research including general and physical chemistry of lipids, biofuels, engineering, biotechnology, biology, biochemistry, physiology, metabolism, signaling and cell biology, as well as analytics, including lipidomics. EJLST aims to provide an efficient route to communicate primary research as well as review articles. The journal is the official organ of the European Federation for the Science and Technology of Lipids (Euro Fed Lipid).
